

Drupal™ Adoption in Government

Drupal helps U.S. government departments maintain openness, transparency and visibility. All three branches are meeting Open Government Directive requirements with Drupal.

Dozens of U.S. government agencies have embraced Drupal

Department of Commerce (DOC)

Commerce.gov

DOC — Open Government

Recovery at Commerce

SelectUSA

SBA.gov

MBDA.gov

Department of Defense (DOD)

DISA

DSCA

Department of Education (ED)

ed.gov

teach.gov

Data.ed.gov

Department of Energy (DOE)

energy.gov

smartgrid.gov

National Nuclear Security Administration (NNSA)

Department of Transportation (DOT)

Office of Inspector General

Travel Model Improvement Program

Department of Homeland Security (DHS)

Restore the Gulf

Department of Veterans Affairs (VA)

Intranet

Department of Health and Human Services (HHS)

Department of Health — Connect

Administration for Children & Families

National Cancer Institute

Special Courts

U.S. Courts of Federal Claims

District Courts

U.S. District Court, Central District of California

House of Representatives

112th Congress freshman class (94 sites)

The use of Drupal in government spans all 50 states and the entire globe.

Drupal is used by governments in 130 countries, including...

Basque Parliament

Belgian Prime Minister

Brazil Ministry of Health

City of Athens

Canadian Tourism Commission

Ecuador Ministry of Education

London.gov.uk

National Library of Australia

N-VA

Queen Rania

South African Government (World Cup)

United Nations — FAO

Other notable U.S. sites...

Data.gov

Investor.gov

FCC

MittRomney.com

Federal IT

NASA

Dashboard

New York Senate

go.USA.gov

Recovery.gov

interact.gsa.gov

Whitehouse.gov

